

Tyres, Rims and chains Category

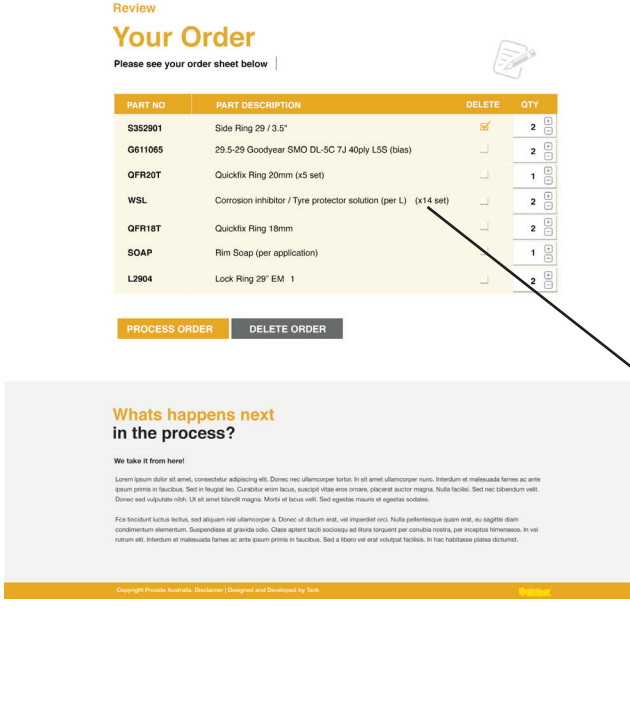

Tyres, Rims and chains Category (these are sets of prodducts that can be bought as a kit or individual items. A user can search for the product SKU, name or can locate via machine type as shown here.

A user can also orer the complete kit which will then take all the items on this page required in the kit and add to order page

This is the product specific page after a user has clicked on a box similar to above but this time a CAT brand.

Individual parts can be linked in the admin section so that if a user wants one component some other parts will automatically be included as they are required.

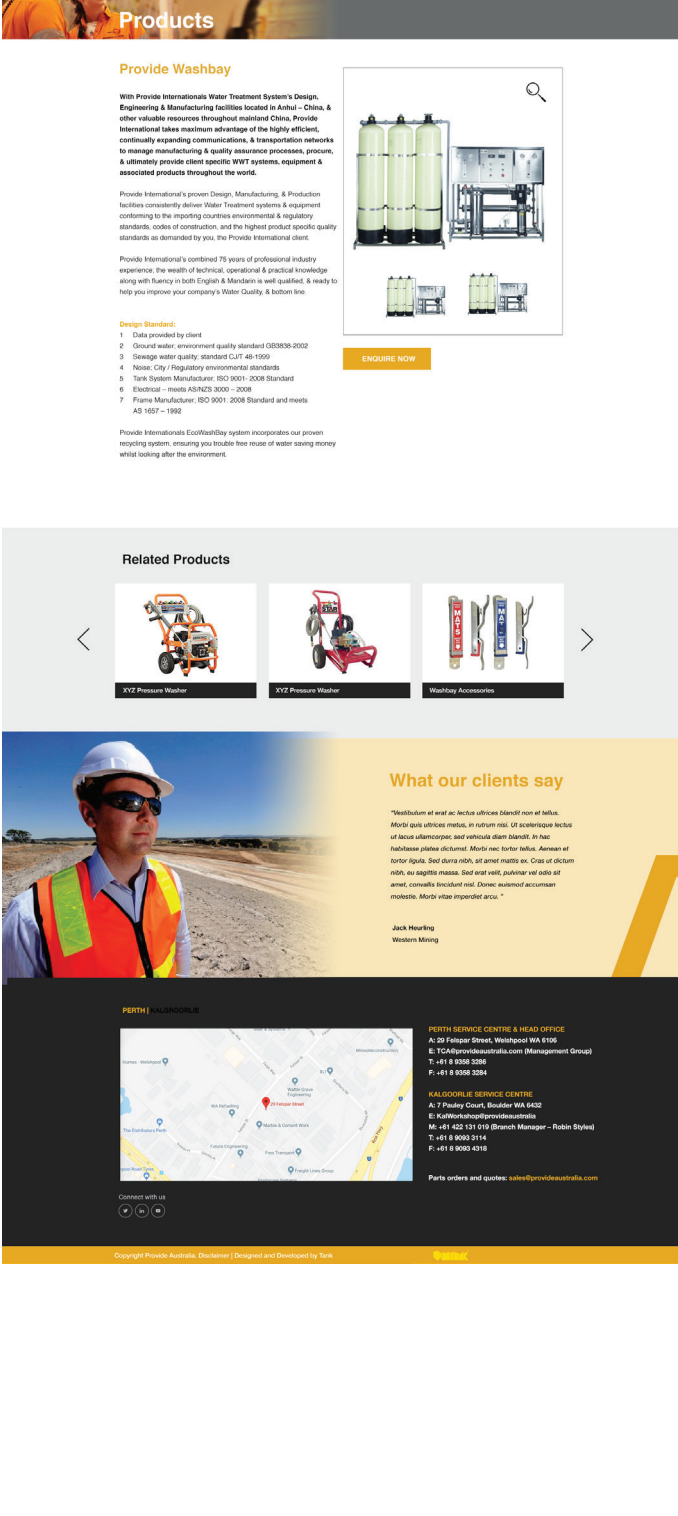

This shows when a user has clicked on individual parts from the list and then can order quantities

Stand alone products

The second style of product is a stand alone product. Much like a “widget” the product is just a one off. It will be in a group of other products in same category like “pressure washers” or “hoses” This is a category page.
